

Cost of Electroplated Zinc Cable Trays

AI Overview

Electroplated zinc cable trays typically range from $50 to $200 per 10-foot section, depending on size, brand, and supplier.

Typical Pricing

- Cablofil CF54/150EZ Wire Mesh Cable Tray: A 10-foot, 6-inch wide electroplated zinc tray is available from RS Components and similar suppliers, with prices generally around $100–$150 per section depending on distributor and shipping options .
- Cablofil CF150/300EZ: This 11.81" wide by 118.2" long tray is listed on Amazon, with prices in the $120–$180 range per tray .
- L-Com Electro Zinc Plated Wire Mesh Cable Tray: Smaller trays, such as 5.91" wide by 59" long, are sold in packs of 5, with individual tray costs roughly $50–$70 each, depending on quantity and accessories .
- Wholesale options: Suppliers on Alibaba offer bulk electroplated zinc cable trays, with prices varying widely based on dimensions, thickness, and order volume. Bulk purchases can reduce the per-tray cost significantly, sometimes to $30–$60 per tray for standard sizes .

Factors Affecting Cost

- Tray Dimensions: Wider or taller trays generally cost more due to increased material usage.
- Length: Standard lengths are 10 feet, but custom lengths may increase cost.
- Material Quality: Electroplated zinc finish provides corrosion resistance; higher-quality steel or thicker plating can raise prices.
