

Customs declaration for a 400G telecom-grade router

AI Overview

A 400G telecom-grade router should be declared under HS Code 8517, with an electronic customs declaration submitted to the relevant customs authority, including all required documentation and approvals.

HS Code Classification

A 400G telecom-grade router falls under HS Code 8517, which covers telecommunication and network equipment such as routers, switches, modems, and other apparatus for transmitting or receiving voice, data, or images via wired or wireless networks . This classification is essential for determining applicable duties, taxes, and regulatory requirements.

Customs Declaration Process

Importing into the EU

When importing the router into the EU, you must submit a customs declaration to the customs office where the goods first enter the EU territory . The declaration must be made electronically, typically via the Internet customs declaration (IZA) system in Germany or the equivalent electronic system in other EU countries . The declaration should include:

- Description of the goods (e.g., 400G telecom router)
- HS code (8517)
- Quantity and value
