

Price of installation of circuit breaker in distribution box

AI Overview

The typical cost to install a circuit breaker distribution box ranges from $1,400 to over $9,000, depending on panel size, amperage, and installation complexity.

Cost Overview

For standard residential installations, a 100-amp panel with minimal wiring and no upgrades usually costs around $1,400 to $2,500, including labor and materials . A 200-amp service upgrade or more complex installations can range from $2,500 to $4,000, while high-capacity or full-service upgrades in larger homes may exceed $9,000 . Commercial or industrial distribution boxes generally cost more due to higher amperage, additional circuits, and advanced safety features .

Factors Affecting Price

- Amperage and Panel Size: Higher amperage panels (200A, 400A) require larger breakers and heavier wiring, increasing both material and labor costs .
- Type of Breakers: Standard breakers are less expensive, while AFCI, GFCI, or smart-capable breakers add to the cost .
- Labor Complexity: Costs vary with panel relocation, conduit routing, grounding upgrades, and rewiring .
- Permits and Local Codes: Local regulations and inspection fees can influence the total price .
