

What are the fiber optic cable manufacturers in Laos

AI Overview

Laos has several key fiber optic providers, including AP Network, Best Telecom, ETL, Laotel, and Unitel, offering a range of residential and enterprise internet solutions.

Major Providers and Services

AP Network offers premium fiber connectivity for homes and businesses, with dedicated bandwidth, static IPs, enterprise-grade SLAs, and backup AirFiber solutions. They also provide scalable network infrastructure for large organizations and temporary high-capacity networks for events . Best Telecom focuses on leased fiber optic cable services, emphasizing secure and stable digital transmission. Their infrastructure supports multiple uses, including general internet, organizational email, ICT services, and government or societal needs, with underground fiber optic cables and modern equipment . ETL (Enterprise of Telecommunications Lao) provides FTTH (Fiber to the Home) services with installation options and dynamic IP addresses. They cover Vientiane and provincial capitals, offering speeds up to 100 Mbps for fiber connections . Laotel offers fiber-to-the-room services in Vientiane, with packages starting at 50 Mbps and pricing beginning at 1,500,000 kip for three months. They focus on urban residential connectivity . Unitel and Lao Telecom are also major players, providing nationwide fiber coverage with speeds up to 150–200 Mbps in urban centers. Unitel is noted for value-oriented plans, while Lao Telecom is recognized for reliability .
